THE NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

We have been favoured with a memorandum from the Department of National Engineers, showing the cost of the materials already contracted for, and also of those already received up to 31st March, 1884—a most important paper, and the freshest official statement that has as yet been prepared. The amounts are certainly very large, and show the enormous disbursements of the Government in the construction of its railways. We know of no other Government that is so great a railway builder as the Argentine, and adhere to our already expressed opinion, that it would be better for the Government and for the people if these great railway works were built by private joint-stock companies instead of by the Government.

However, it must be a source of satisfaction to all who take an interest in this country to know that the loans we are raising so fast in Europe we are investing in such splendid works, and not spending the money in civil war or war materials. We believe that of the few countries that can at the present day afford to go into debt to construct public works, the Argentine Republic stands first, since she owes so little and possesses such inexhaustible resources.

Twenty years ago this country was so little known abroad that the Government was compelled to construct its own works; but to-day all that is changed. All the great capitalists of Europe know the country now off by heart, and can tell you the average monthly Custom House receipts, and even the price of Cedulas on the Bolsa. For every public work the country needs there are scores of contractors and millions of money ready to be subscribed, as was evidenced in the subscription called the other day in London for the Rosario and Campana Railway, and for the Debentures of the Transandine Railway that were issued at 111, subscribed for twice over, and to-day stand at 112.

We shall not further dwell on this subject, but hope that henceforward every railway and every work of a public character that the progress of the country calls for will be constructed by a joint-stock company, which will save the Government from so frequently entering the European markets to raise some new loan.

The following are the tables of the cost of materials, etc., for our railways, contracted for or already received up to 31st March, 1884:—

To the foregoing must be added the sums disbursed in wages to the 'peones' and workmen, overseers, engineers and all the great staff in charge of and carrying out the works, which we estimate at one and a-half the cost of materials, say 12 millions, which gives a grand total of over twenty millions national dollars already expended on these great works.

SANTA FE IN LONDON.

We find in many of our London colleagues the most flattering notices about the progress of Santa Fé; and our article on the latest report from the Santa Fé colonies reproduced line for line by some of the financial London organs.

The Money Market Review of March 8th, after reproducing the article in question from our columns, says:—

A more striking record of agricultural progress and productive development there could hardly be. It is very satisfactory, too, to have this evidence of the spirit with which the Colonists seek and obtain the best and most approved agricultural machinery, and also of their ability to pay for it. It is easy to understand how in this way the development of agriculture in these new countries brings profits to our implement makers, though, indeed, this is but a minor matter in comparison with the advantages which are conferred upon bread-consumers in this country and in every part of the world and upon our shipping interest. In presence of these developments, it is easy to understand the rise which has taken place in the value of land in the Argentine Republic; while at the same time an idea may be formed of the enormous future value of the land possessed by the Anglo-Argentine Land Companies. The most important of these concerns are—to take them in the order of their establishment—the Central Argentine Land Company, Limited, whose Shares command 150 per cent. premium in the market, and the Santa Fé Land Company, Limited—an undertaking which was brought before the public as recently as last year, but which, owing to the rapid rise in the value of land around its estates, holds out peculiar promise to the home investor. The Santa Fé Company possess in absolute right a huge tract, comprising no less than 660 square leagues, in the Province, the rapid development of which has given occasion to these remarks. The shares are of £10, with £8. 10s. paid, and, as the final call of £1 10s. falls due on the 15th inst., they will soon be fully paid up and exempt from further liability. Their present price is par to ¼ prem.

SWISS IMMIGRATION.

The arrival of a large batch of Swiss emigrant families, with Dr Bertoni at their head, is another of those grand events which mark the progress of the Plate.

Dr Bertoni is a man of good position and high distinction in Switzerland, he is editor of the Swiss Scientific Review, and member of various scientific and literary societies in France and Switzerland; and it is no mean event in Argentine affairs that a young man of such distinction should assume the mantle of Sir Walter Raleigh and head an emigration movement from his native land to Misiones, one of the richest yet least populated districts of this Republic.

We attribute this new and all important Immigration move to the continued and strenuous efforts of Mr Beck Bernard of Lausanne, our excellent Argentine Consul in Switzerland, and we commend to the attention of our readers this gentleman's letter which we give at foot.

In the hands of such an industrious and agricultural people as the Swiss, the Misiones may reach any importance, and we hope and trust that the new arrivals will be well treated, and receive from the Government free grants of land, since in every new country under the sun the pioneers always merit some premium for their daring and enterprise.

The hitherto steady emigration of the Swiss to California and other parts has been checked, and some few who have tried Australia and New Zealand have not proved successful; not so those who 20 years ago came out to Mr Castellanos's colony in Santa Fe, every one of whom is to-day wealthy and independent. Yet the Misiones seems to us still better adapted to the Swiss than Santa Fe, and starting, as these colonists do, with everything in their favor and Dr Bertoni at their head, we doubt not that in a very few years Misiones will become the new Switzerland of the Plate, and the colonies surpass in number and in area even the colonies of Santa Fe.

The following is Mr Beck Bernard's letter:—

Lausanne, Feb. 12, 1884

Most Excellent Sir

I have the honour to specially recommend to Y.E. the bearer of this letter, Dr. Don Moses Bertoni, Director of the Swiss Scientific Review and of the Observatory of Lottigna, in the Canton of Tessino, and likewise a corresponding member of several scientific societies in Switzerland, Italy and France.

This gentleman, accompanied by other persons of scientific and technical acquirements, and a certain number of labourers, has decided to settle in Misiones Territory, where he intends to found an agricultural colony collecting gradually round him several families of his countrymen, who only await his call to join him. With this object in view, Dr. Bertoni wishes to come to an understanding with Y.E. as regards a concession of land, and I trust that the Government will favour a scheme so conducive to the interests of the country and the future development of the hitherto little-known province of Misiones.

Dr. Bertoni also intends to devote himself to sundry scientific studies of his new country, and, to this end, he and his countrymen take with them a large supply of instruments, implements, ironwork, machinery, 1000 kinds of seeds and plants from all parts of the world, to try them in Misiones; a library of scientific books, a chemical, zoological and botanical laboratory; a drug store, the instruments necessary for a meteorological station, and many other things of the greatest use in a new and almost unpopulated country. All these things are, naturally, intended for the private use of Dr. Bertoni and his companions, and for this reason he truste that they will be admitted free of duty, as is usual with what emigtants have for their own private use and benefit. I believe there will be no difficulty on this point; but, should it be necessary, I beg of Y.E. to act in the matter and give the necessary orders in reference to it.

Dr. Bertoni is also willing to undertake a scientific exploration of Misiones Territory, if the Government wish to entrust him with same, and it should coincide with Y.E.'s views. I think it would be very difficult to find a better person for such a task.

I hope Y.E. will appreciate the importance for the country of the enterprise that Dr. Bertoni has in hands, and that you will, consequently, give him all the help you can in the matter.

In anticipation I offer you my sincere thanks for anything Y.E. may do to assist him, and avail of the occasion to renew the assurance of my profound respect and high consideration.

Carlos Beck Bernard.
Consul of the Republic in Switzerland.

KHARTOUM.

As everything connected with the Soudan and its doomed capital, Khartoum, possesses for the moment a melancholy interest, we make the following extracts from the African wanderings of a German traveller, Mr. Ferdinand Werne, the well known author of "The Expedition in search of the sources of the White Nile," translated from the German and published in London in 1852.

For about a year, says Mr. Werne, my youngest brother and I had resided at Khartoum, the capital of Belad-Sudan, in the district of Sennaar, at which place we had arrived after a journey of three months from Cairo. Our love of travelling had been aroused; my office in the Prussian Consulate at Alexandria was sacrificed to the love of adventure, and my brother was appointed surgeon to the 1st. regiment in Sennaar, in addition to his office as surgeon of the Central Hospital at Khartoum. Our friends were alarmed for us on account of the dangerous climate; but full of heart we sailed past the fair Island of Roda, with pleasing remembrances of the happy hours spent in it, and up the Nile, feeling more and more rejoiced as, free from the tumult of the city, we advanced to fresh views and new places. With an outfit for some years, which had cost us much money, and in our lately assumed Turkish dress and arms we lo[illegible] and firmly towards [illegible] and its unknown dangers; but no fears of home-sickness could overtake us. The powerful impressions of this splendid voyage, and the responses of our minds to these most magnigcent views of the world's wonders I must for the present drive forcibly from my recollection, and will only mention how my poor brother, near the cataracts of Ariman, in Upper Nubia, where our bark was nearly dashed to pieces on the rocks, received a "coup de soleil," and that after ten days of delirium, during which his sufferings tortured my anxious mind, I cured him by the application of blisters. I then fancied him as not yet acclimatised; but I, too, who had already passed many years in the East, was, after a few days' residence at Khartoum, a sufferer under a similar attack of this dreadful malady, which, alas! after my return from the White Nile, was the disease that put an end to my brother's young and promising life.

During our whole residence in Khartoum, we were ever in a most pitiable state, suffering almost continually from attacks of intermittent and other fevers, so malignant there. Gracious Heaven, however, so ordered it, that we were always laid up at different times, once only excepted, when, as about to sit down to dinner, we both felt so overpowered, as we fancied by the smell of the viands, as to fall back nearly unconscious on the divan, where more than likely we had then met our fate, had not two Italian doctors seen us through the window, and, coming to our aid, bled us freely. Our fears, therefore, of being at last compelled, struggle as we might against it, to sink under the influence of a climate that slowly saps man's health, and even destroys his mind, could not be looked on as cowardly, or founded on improbable grounds.

Under such uncomfortable circumstances, it was little wonder our departure from Khartoum for Egypt was determined on: eternal illness, despondency and increasing dislike to an unbearable climate, as well as spirits and bodies dying of ennui of a life of quarantine, united to a devouring longing for the healthy, white-skin producing North, urged us as soon as possible to quit for ever this unhealthy city, as well as the arid steppes of the Belad-Sudan. Our purpose was still more strengthened by the first expedition to the source of the White Nile having sailed while we lay on sick couches and with it went the main object of our journey.

It is singular, that with the strong bodies that both negroes and Arabs here possess, none have any calves to their legs—neither man nor woman. In the negresses especially, the under part of the legs are like sticks. None can boast of finer arms than these races, the women's full and round, with well turned elbows, and small delicate hands, the men's strong and muscular.

As far as mind and abilities are concerned, we have from experience fully convinced ourselves that the Egyptian, or Arab in general, far exceeds the Turk; and he is the one to be employed in all labour, mental or bodily, provided the stick is at hand—the "re medium omnipotens," for all these races. He more readily comprehends everything and knows how to execute it, i. e., if he is under the eye of another whom he fears. To execute and labour, or work by or of himself, he has not the power. as, if not watched, he falls back into his laziness and "far niente" and lets matters go as they will: „Allah Kerim" (God is merciful) answers for all. This is visible in all Mehemet Ali's institutions and arrangements that cost him so much money. The manufactories while under the charge of Franks brought some profit, and the valuable machinery was, then at least, kept in order, and in some cases, even improved on. But now when the direction is left to Arabs, the gains have become much less, and every day the machinery is becoming more broken and useless; for they seldom know how, and very rarey think it necessary to perform any repairs on it, till at last all goes to wreck and ruin, and restoration and repair are impossible. It is the hereditary fault of Turk and Arab to put off everything till the last instant, and often the slightest effort of activity is refused when it would avert some serious mischance; and so it is with the government—only when the accident has occurred come orders for the future, and these are no sooner given than they are forgotten again. The greatest injury, however, to all the factories, arises from the dust, which is so fine and penetrating' that it finds its way into the most delicate parts of the machinery, even into pocket-watches, and ruins everything. Up to the present time, though a high reward has been offered, no one has succeeded in remedying this mighty evil, and the best-fitting double windows have proved as useless as all other defences attempted against the subtle enemy.

Our Achmet Pasha depends on and values his black soldiers more than his Arab and Syrian troops. The first regiment, now nearly twenty years in Belad-Sudan, is almost all blacks, as climate and skirmishes have carried off almost all the Arabs of Egypt and Syria that were in it. Those still alive are old, worn-out invalids, as nothing but total uselessness—such as blindness, the loss of a leg or an arm—releases these unfortunates from the service; lameness, the loss of one eye, the want of three or four fingers, is a matter of no importance. Often have we heard Achmet Pasha express the wish that all his soldiers, officers excepted, were blacks; and he is in the right, for the service in Belad-Sudan. They are not affected by sickness or climate as the others, suffer hardships without a murmur, quickly and cheerfully obey all orders, and can subsist on the worst food in the smallest quantities, a little dura daily satisfying them. Besides, their courage is good, even though they may not possess the same bravery as soldiers who fight for parents, wife, children and country, or who are spurred on by honour; still they go on to the spot they are ordered, fight their way, and many of them, especially those from the mountains of the upper parts of Faszogl, fear death little, if at all. In the Morea the body guard of Ibrahim Pasha, composed of 500 blacks, more than once distinguished themselves above his other forces. Once a hill held by the enemy was to be taken; twice did the Egyptians storm in vain and fail; Ibrahim now sent his blacks, who at once took by storm the important point. Hardly could such things be expected from men who are first forcibly made slaves, then soldiers. A greater part of them certainly feel unhappy in their lot, more than one would suppose in these rude men; and many die from home-sickness, as we saw more than once in Khartoum. But as many also are not sensible of their misery, or the wretched life they pass as Egyptian soldiers, the state of their former lot may be guessed. They are stolen as children, have been slaves, and find themselves freer as soldiers, and, at least considered as men; while those they have left behind them, are they know, in the saddest state, almost like cattle, often exposed to starvation, and always to slavery, from the repeated wars amongst themselves. Formerly without clothing they are now proud of their dress, cap, arms, and that they, as soldiers inspire others with fear; and finally, what may contribute not a little to their own satisfaction, they always find themselves associating with their own countrymen.

The Tycho Brahe's Mails

London 21st March.

Suakin, March 20—Sir William Hewett has to-day issued a proclamation cancelling the offer of a reward for Osman Digma's head, and stating that in future no money will be offered for the capture of the rebel chiefs.

Some spies who have arrived here from Tamanieb state that Osman Digma is there with 200 followers, half of whom are wounded. All the Sheikhs are still with Osman Digma, and Ibrahim Mahmoud Abmu and Mohamed still profess the fullest belief in his power. Osman Digma has summoned all the tribes to meet to-morrow to confer.

A soldier of the Sinkat garrison, who escaped yesterday from Tamanieb, confirms the reports of the spies, and adds that the women and children are cursing Osman Digma.

The 10th Hussars and a battery of artillery will go to Handoub early to-morrow. The Hussars are to return here in the evening, but the artillery will remain at Handoub.

We have received the following communication from the War Office:—

"From Major-General Sir G. Graham

"to the Secretary of State for War.

"Received 20th of March, 4.50 p.m.

"Suakin, 20th of March, 1884, 4 p.m

"'Report received from Handoub that three Sheikhs of the Samara and Amprar tribes, with 17 followers, have come in to-day. Mahmoud Ali Bey says more will come to-morrow, when the Holy Sheikh Morghani and brother are going out to Handoub.

"'The percentage of sick in whole force is below two.'"

Cairo, March 20

The news from Suakin is considered as generally more encouraging. Osman Digma's power is apparently gone, and there is some hopeful possibility of opening the Berber route.

The wildest statements are made regarding General Gordon, but they have no foundation. The last telegram from Berber reports that comparative quiet reigns there; but fears are entertained of an interruption of communication. The post-boat from Khartoum was late, but it was expected to reach there to-morrow.

Paris, March 20.

The Figaro to-day learns from an authoritative source that immediately after the capture of Honghoa by the French troops General Millot will fix the western frontier of Tonquin at Thuan Quan, a town situated on the Songkoi river, 30 miles above Honghoa, and belonging to the Black Flags. The latter will be allowed to retain all their towns from Thuan Quan to Laokay, on condition that they engage to guarantee the free navigation of the Upper Sonkhoi. The northern frontier, adds the journal, will extend from Phu Lang Thuong to Thuan Quan, by way of Phu Binh and Phu Doan Hong.

The Paris this evening says:—"We are now in the the position to state that with the capture of Hong-hoa military operations in Tonquin will be completely terminated."

The same journal designates Rear-Admiral Rieunier as the probable successor of Vice-Admiral Courbet in the chief naval command in Tonquin.

It is semi-officially announced that no fresh negotiations have up to the present been opened with China.

The Liberté of this evening states that the French Government has decided to take some guarantee with a view to securing the payment of the indemnity which it intends to demand from China.

Paris, March 20.

The journal L'Intransigeant publishes a letter, signed Maurice Talleyrand Perigord, who, as a former miner in Chili, sends a subscription of 5,000f. to assist the men on strike at Anzin.

An intimation has been received by Vice-Admiral Rice, C.B., Commander-in-Chief at Sheerness, to the effect that Her Majesty, travelling privately as usual, intends to leave Windsor on Monday, April 7, at 6 p.m., so as to reach Port Victoria at 7 p.m. Her Majesty will at once embark on board the Royal yacht Osborne, will sleep on board on Monday night in Sheerness Harbour, and, weather permitting, will cross to Flushing on the following day proceeding thence to Darmstadt. Her Majesty intends to return from the Continent on the 24th of April. The Enchantress will accompany the Royal yacht.

The Chicago limited express, travelling eastwards on the Pennsylvania Railroad 70 miles west of Pittsburg before daylight this morning was thrown from the line, owing to a landslip which had been produced by the heavy rains, the locomotive and coaches rolling into a ditch. The driver and stoker were killed, and several passengers were injured. The Pullman coaches, withstanding the shock, remained intact, thus saving many lives.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has reported a Bill, authorizing the Government to return to China the residue of the Chinese indemnity fund.

The Office of Hangmen.—Yesterday Benjamin Binns, the executioner, was called before the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, at the Sessions-house, in the Old Bailey, and gave as best he could an explanation of the circumstances attending the recent execution at Liverpool and other matters in which his conduct has been called seriously in question. It is understood that he made an emphatic denial to the allegations of drunkenness, which he imputed to animosity and vindictiveness on the part of the Liverpool Officials, and he also equally flatly contradicted the assertions that he had attempted to defraud railway companies by evading payment of his fare, and that he had made an exhibition at publichouses of the ropes and other accessories to his vocation as hangman. The Sheriffs have come to no decision at present in the matter, but will report their opinion to the Committee of Aldermen at their next meeting. Meanwhile, they are inundated with applications for the appointment.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 18th.

José Maria del Campo, whose death was lately caused by falling over a precipice, when travelling in Catamarca, was a man that merits something more than the short paragraph of half-a-dozen lines which the Standard dedicated to him.

Del Campo was, we may truly say the last of the "caudillos" of the Argentine Republic. The word "caudillo" has acquired a sinister significance in this country, because ferocious and unprincipled chiefs, of the type of Oribe, Quiroga, Masa, Aldao and Ibarra, corrupted the real meaning of the word, and soon it was applied to any man who, by means of his influence, wealth, intelligence or audacity, succeeded in making the people love or fear him. In no country in Latin America has the genus "caudillo," been so numerous as in this and the neighbouring Oriental Republic but the historian must be careful to discriminate. The word tyrant, in olden times, had not the terrible meaning that it has now. Pisistratus and Dionysius are equally termed tyrants, and if we look in vain amongst our catalogue of "caudillos" for a parallel of the great Athenian, we must, nevertheless, not confound well-intentioned men with the successful gaucho, who, like many of the false prophets of Islam, had no other virtue than audacity. At the head of our "caudillos," of course, must be placed Gen. Urquiza. Rosas was simply a tyrant. Urquiza had all the good and bad qualities of the "caudillo," in the modern acceptation of the word: ambitious, cruel, vengative, haughty, lavish, generous, but never grateful. But, on the other hand, he was patriotic—all his actions tended, as he thought, towards the prosperity of his country, which he wished to regenerate; but, unfortunately he had not been regenerated himself, and thus his life was a failure, to a great extent, and his memory will not be respected in future times.

Another class of "caudillo" is the educated one, who deliberately enslaves his people, under the mistaken notion that they are not able to take care of themselves. Such were the Francias and Lopez of Faraguay, and our Taboadas of Santiago. Then we have our patriarchal "caudillo," like General Navarro, of Catamarca, who was a "caudillo" without knowing it, but accustomed to have his will respected throughout his province, without question. A brother of his has been National Senator for upwards of a quarter of a century, beginning in Parana. To none of these, however, can José Maria del Campo be compared. He was a cleverer man than Urquiza, and, as a general rule, more humane than the common run of "caudillos," and although at times he held irresponsible power, he was held up as an example of morality. He was born in Tucuman in 1826, and was consequently only 57 years old when he died. He was educated in Catamarca by the somewhat celebrated Friar Quintana, who, although belonging to the Order of St. Francis, was more of a philosopher than a saint. At the age of 23 he was ordained, and was named curate of a little town of Tucuman. On the fall of Rosas he first entered the arena of politics, and was instrumental in overturning the government of Gutierrez, the Lieutenant of Rosas in Tucuman' after which Del Campo retired to his curacy, refusing to take any participation in public affairs. But the sanguinary atmosphere that enveloped the interior provinces for many years after the fall of Rosas, forced the modest priest into public life, where he soon became conspicuous by his administrative and executive talents and great courage. In 1855, after gaining and losing several battles, he was elected Governor of Tucuman before he had attained the legal age. In this first period of his government the Constitution that is still in force in Tucuman was promulgated; the administration and the financial department were thoroughly organized, the courts of justice were created, the cathedral was built, and the foundatians were laid of almost all the institutions existing in Tucuman. On terminating his period he again retired to private life. Del Campo was a strenuous partizan of the Buenos Aires perty in the struggle with the Parana Government, and some time before the battle of Pavon he openly declared against Derqui, the President, who immediately despatched the patriarchal "caudillo," Navarro, against him, and Del Campo, with his hastily-formed army, was vanquished. He raised another army in Santiago, and this time he beat the "Federals" in the field of Ceibal. Elected Governor again in 1862, he made head against the formidable Quiroga, the sanguinary "caudillo" of the "Llanos," and completely defeated the "Chaco" in a battle that lasted four hours, on the banks of the Colorado. He was afterwards elected Senator to Congress, and since 1867 he again retired into private life and became forgotten, until his tragic end has brought him again before the public. Del Campo made plenty of enemies, by whom he is painted in very black colours indeed. The Porteños, on the other hand, probably laud him too much; but, it is fair to say of him that, as he was the arbitre for many years of an Argentine province, a friar, a warrior and a statesman, although in a comparatively small sphere, he stands out now, not only as the last of the Argentine "caudillos," but as the best and most honest of them.

From "caudillos" to butchers the transition is not a violent one. A company got the concession from the Municipality of the principal market; on very favourable terms for themselves but very onerous terms for the public. By an old ordinance, the radius belonging to the market is ten squares on all sides, and, by the concession, no one was allowed to buy or sell meat except at the market. The company at once commenced operations in the style of the Bakers' League, and nearly all the town was obliged to pay an enormous price for an inferior article of meat. Public discontent assumed such a formidable appearance, that the Municipality was obliged to take some measures to allay it. The concession itself was a scandalous one, that everyone was satisfied of, so the Lord Mayor soon found an ordinance that restricted the radius of the market to seven squares instead of ten, and he authorized the establishment of butcher shops outside that radius, and the delivery of meat at houses. This was, of course, a great advantage to the public, for it allowed competition, and good meat was had at a reasonable price; but the concessionaires of the market, of course, were far from being satisfied with what was so completely satisfactory to the public They have entered an action against the Municipality, and their first escrito is printed and distributed. What strikes one most in the argument is the computation of the pecuniary loss the company suffers from the restriction of the radius and the free butcher shops. They do not pay for their concession more than 35 or 40 thousand dollars a-year, and yet they make out a bill of 141 thousand dollars as the amount of prejudice they suffer in one year. If there be any justice in this demand, the company got a concession on which they have expected a clear profit of two hundred thousand dollars a-year. Thus goes our world in these regions.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The rain yesterday stopped and soaked everything and everybody. It was a wretched day for collections, and many people had a total respite from "Los Ingleses." Towards evening the Clerk stopped the "agua" and things looked better for the concert in the Colon last night and the races to-day, but the latter are again postponed.

We give the news by the Tycho Brahe in another column. It is a little fresher than the last to hand.

The newest idea of the Western Railway Board is to make a tunnel, down Calle Rivadavia, from Plaza Once to the Central Station, as an overground branch offers too many difficulties. By all means let us have the tunnel.

Number 4728 won the Big Prize in yesterday's Lottery—10,000 Nats.

The first 'remate' of "The Turf" on Friday night at the Bodega was a decided success. The cream of the sporting world was present, and everything went off splendidly. We congratulate Mr Craufurd, who is determined, in a little time, to make this Agency, the Sporting Centre in South America.

A colleague gives a list of sixteen more matrimonial alliances in High Life which have been arranged and will shortly take place. Our contemporary attributes the matrimony-mania of this year to the Java earthquake and the "glorious sunsets." The jewellers are rubbing their hands and praying for another earthquake and more 'glorious sunsets.'

The latest phase of advertising enterprise is a petition from Messrs. Capurro and Co. to be allowed to line the railings of the passenger mole insidb and outside with wood, to post advertizements on. The advertizing craze is going to far, the ugly drop-scene at the Opera House being the worst instance of it yet. The columns of a newspaper are the only fit place for advertizements, and posters should be thoroughly discountenanced.

With regard to the fire in the Politeama, some nights ago, there was really more sensation than danger, as we understand the whole water system for extinguishing fires in case of accident is in complete order. Besides there are 11 ways of exist, so that the only danger to be feared would be confusion. There is no safer theatre in town. Two performances to-day when a "Night in Pekin" will be given for the last and 'Escalera' milagrosa for the first time.

A gentleman in the "carrero" line proposed the other day for the hand of the lovely and accomplished daughter of a shebang keeper at La Plata. The liquor dealer aspired higher for a mate for his daughter, and told the suitor so, whereupon the latter drove a knife up to the hilt in his stomach; but the old gentleman is so vigorously constituted that the knife only tickled his inside a little, and he is rapidly recovering.

The President of the Western Railway has sent Governor Rocha and his Ministers free passes on all the railways of the province. These passes are medals of solid gold.

The King of Spain has insured his life in Paris for a large sum. His Majesty is said to be the first crowned head whose life any office has agreed to insure. They wont even ensure dethroned monarchs, and the Empress Eugenie was lately refused. A crowned head is 'trebly hazardous,' owing to the Socialists and Anarchists.

The new Post Office in La Plata was opened yesterday. We have already some subscribers in La Plata, so are glad announce this.

The works of Dr. Rawson, Wilde and Mallo have been sent to London as the Argentine contingent to the International Hygienic Exhibition to be held at South Kensington.

The Law Judges are packing up for La Plata, although it was said they would not go out there for untold gold. On Friday some of the belongings of the Supreme Court were sent out, but the heavy rain yesterday stopped everything. The subordinate employees of the Provincial offices find the cost of moving out to La Plata very severe, as it runs away with several month's salary.

Sarmiento is being lionised to his heart's content in the Interior. When they have finished petting him in Mendoza he will go to his native San Juan, where they are making great preparations do him honour.

The beggars have suffered severely by the introduction of copper coin and the death of the paper dollar; but the thieves, the beggars! have gained largely. We remark that they now steal National dollars only, and disdain "moneda corriente." It makes a vast difference—both to him who takes and him who gives.

The 'entrada' for the Scotch Church Concert on Wednesday night next is only two Nats. Two pieces in the list—Cherubini's "Introitus" and "Offertorium," and Gounod's "Ave Maria" are alone worth double the money to hear.

The Consejo Deliberante of the Municipality met on Friday, but, as usual, the proceedings were all leather and prunella, and nothing useful was done. Not a word about the Public Baths and Wash-Houses, which are so urgently required. The President of the Council has written to the Lord Mayor to look sharp after a lot of Municipal bric-a-brac in the Supreme Court of Justice, lest it be swept off to La Plata. Amongst it is a clock which our countryman General Beresford presented to the town in 1806. He was invited to a conference at the Cabildo and, with true British punctuality, arrived as the clock was striking 1 p.m.; but the Cabildo men were all late, and threw the fault on their watches. Beresford at once offered to make them a present of a clock tha would keep time, which he did, and that same British clock most unpatriotically struck the hour for the Reconquista and Revolution of May.

Messrs. Deck and Whiting, of 202 Calle San Martin, agents for the now world-renowned "Gimnasio del Hogar" invented by Messrs Gifford Bros. of New York, have sent round a neat little book setting forth the great benefits to be derived from the use of this apparatus in family houses and schools The youngest child, male or female, can use it. Lest there should be any doubt about the "Gimnasio's" utility from a medical point of view, Messrs. D. and W. publish in their little book letters from the leading physicians in this city, all of whom highly approve of the use of this Gymnasium, on which, although it only occupies a space of four feet square, fifty different exercises can be gone through. The Revista Medico-Quirurgica heads the list of testimonials, and then follow the letters of our leading doctors—W Rawson, E Wilde (Minister of Education) B Novaro, P F Robsrts, P A Pardo, J B Gil, J Pirovano, Dr Blancas, A J Crespo, J M Ayer, E Arana, Dr Finck, N Molinas, C Lloveras, J A Ayerza, J M Ramos Mejia, C Aguirre, J Alston, A Quesada. Such names are quite sufficient to start the Home Gymnasium in every family house and public and private school in the Republic—aye in all South America.

On Friday before Judge Obligado 'Igarzabal v. El Mosquito' was heard. The action arose from a caricature of the Plaintiff published in the paper, of which Mr Stein is the editor. The verdict ordered a declaration on the latter gentleman's part that no offence was meant, and payment in full of the costs. Dr Pellegrini represented the defendant and Dr Sarmiento the complainant. Caricaturing is sometimes anything but a good speculation, as the number of people who like to be ridiculed publicly must be remarkably small.

The Sub-Administrator of L'Operaio Italiano, on leaving the Politeama after the alarm of fire, some nights ago, suddenly dropped lifeless in the street. An aneurism from which he suffered and the alarm explained all.

Another accident on the La Plata branch on Friday, but no harm done. Some of the waggons went off the line at the points; but the train got into Buenos Aires all right, and only an hour behind time. Clearly some negligence of the pointsman.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract" and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.

After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Yours truly

W. R. GRANT.

Used perseveringly together with the

IT IS A LITTLE TROUBLE TO examine the pamphlet wrapped around each bottle of the true MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER, so as to find the words "LANMAN & KEMP, New York," which are water-marked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of bother rather than to be imposed upon by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which though pale and faint, can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no FLORIDA WATER is genuine that does not have this test mark.

Cedulas A	100½
Cedulas E	89
Cedulas F	85½
National Bank Shares....	138
Nat. Bank Certificados..	44 o/o prem.
National Bonds	89

This was one of the wettest Saturdays in the memory of the oldest Bolsa broker; market affairs and accommodations have, however, so much changed that now produce is sold under cover and bought through the telephone. We no longer have to go up to the Plaza Once and sit on the 'pertigo' of the bullock cart alongside the wool samples piled up by the 'tropero', or stop the delivery of hides and sheepskins until the rain is over; all that is past, and to-day some large wool sales and wool deliveries were made in the Plazas by means of the telephone.

The stock and share market that ruled so very weak last evening stiffened this morning, owing to the news that the Government has accepted the offer of ten millions firm at 84 on account of the 30 million loan, the balance to be launched as the Syndicate considered convenient. This with the large advance on the City Improvement and Riachuelo Loan already announced of course places the Government in funds for fully another year and a half to carry out these enterprises, but what is most extraordinary is that in spite of all this the exchange market shows not the least sign of recovery, and rates on England and Paris are as weak as ever. But the Bank balance-sheet and comparative tables published in all the morning papers dumbfounded the bears, and holders of shares see clearly that there is nothing else in this market likely to rise more rapidly in value than these National Bank Shares.

National Bonds have advanced a little and sold this morning at 89½, which is still however below the amortization price, but this stock is heavy as lead. In years long over it was the most speculative, to-day it is as heavy as ostrich farm shares. Cedulas are coming out fast on the market, which makes people believe in the report that some large hypothecary loans on Series E have been called up. Series F is also dull at 85½. National Bank Shares form the key-stone of speculation; there was less disposition to sell 'descubierto' this morning, owing to the loan news. Certificates sold at 44½ and then at 44, however parties who want to buy this stock cannot find it at these rates. There are buyers for large lots, and we hear that a millionaire Italian firm has swept the market clean of Certificates, and the brokers have still orders to buy more. Orders from Europe have come out to buy Italian Bank Shares, but the limit is too low, holders of this stock don't care to sell, as it is considered the best gold paying dividend stock in this market; 160 is the price asked and 150 offered; no business done.

Owing to the continued rain to-day it is thought there will be no races to-morrow, and many think there will be no Bahia Blanca Railway inauguration next week, but of this we shall know later on. The day was a most inconvenient one for many who are moving out to La Plata; the morning train left full, but the business of moving out the archives of the Supreme Court has proved a Herculean labor, the boxes gave way, the escrituras fell out, and then the boxes had to be made smaller, even the very law papers of the Court seemed to sympathise with the judges and protest against the removal.

The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—
Cedulas—
For cash E 6,400 at 89
For April 30th E 130,000 at 89½-⅛-89-⅛-89
For cash F 13,800 at 85½
For April 30th F 20,000 at 85⅝-½
Sales, 170,200
National Bank Shares—
For cash 200 at 138
For April 30th 2,100 at 138½-⅛-⅛-¼-¼-⅛-½ to 138⅝
For May 31st 1,300 at 140-¼-140
Sales, 3,600
National Bank Certificates, 30 o/o paid—
For cash 120 at $45½-44
National Bonds 1863—
For cash 5,000 at 89½

Dr Plaza is beyond question the most active of all our Ministers, yesterday he went down to the Custom House in person to see the 'modus operandi' of despatching goods and learn the causes of the delays which have led to the note from the Centro Comercio. He had not to go far, nor yet to remain long to discover the difficulties. Merchandize has come out so fast from Europe that the very lighters in the harbor are turned into Custom's deposits, and since there is no place to put the goods; why of course there was no means of despatching them. To meet the great difficulty, new Custom's Deposits have been rented by order of the Minister, and as the Provincial Bank has put the veto on all importer's pagares, it is most likely the speed of our export trade will be somewhat checked. Import business was driving ahead at such tremendous speed that the port, the market, the Custom House and even the Provincial Bank were unable to keep up. The news this morning on 'Change was that not only has the Bank refused to discount import pagarés, but also has refused to give exchange to importers. The applications for discount yesterday ran over one million pats, and the Bank only gave 90,000 pats. These matters are much talked of on 'Change, and but for the constant good rumours about the loan there would certainly be a squeeze to-day in the money market; but we all know that the loan money is coming the only question being when, and with such 'magna' figures of the growing business of the National Bank, and the fresh issue of over half a million sterling in notes during the month it is plain to see the surpassing development of the general business of the whole market.

The sale of 4 square leagues of prime land adjoining the English Company's land at Trelen is reported, for eighty five thousand paper dollars per league; Chevalier Oldham of Montevideo buyer, Mr Allen seller; we congratulate Mr Oldham on his purchase, as the lands are well known, and adjoin the immense estate of the English Company, which will be soon wire-fenced, stocked, and settled upon.

We note much more doing in land than last month, and several parties have gone out to see lands which they are in treaty for. Mr. Claraz reports the following important sales effected by him.

One and two fifth leagues of land in San Javier, province of Santa Fe, distant about 40 leagues from the city of Santa Fe, for 13,000 nat. dollars, seller Mr. M. Rams, buyer Mr. August Leonhard; also one league and 176 squares of prime land, in Department of Concordia, Entre Rios, for $14,000 fuertes, seller Mr W. Bertram, buyer Mr Donald McRae.

Cows also appear to be looking up, 3000 sold to-day on a well known estancia, 9 de Julio, for 170 m/c "al corte," buyers, all young English estancieros.

The courts have awarded Dr. Bunge 15,000 Nat. Dollars fee in the great case of Rostan versus Quesnel freres estate, a suit of very great importance and in which Dr Bunge had much study and labor to bring to a successful issue for his client.

Exchange on Paris done to-day at 5 francs, on Montevideo 2½ to 2¼, and on Rio 11,250. On England bills scarce and nothing done.

Discount brokers report first class pagarés done at 7 per cent. The Nat. Bank discounted yesterday 450,000 Nat. Dollars. Money first class paper easy.

It may interest some of our readers to know that to-day a large purchase of produce was made by telegraph in Patagones—
Mestiza wool with bellies 45 m/c per ar.
Lamba do, 35 do
Dry cow hides 140 pesado
Sheepskins 16 rls.
These prices seem very low, but there is a large accumulation of produce at present in the valley of the Rio Negro, hands are scarce, it is very far away, and buyers of produce have many expenses to meet and difficulties to contend with. Cattle and sheep have so increased along the Rio Negro that flocks of good mestiza sheep are selling at 18 m/c "al corte" and cows and novillos are so plentiful that there is no market, and "troperos" are driving the animals up to the Bariloche Pass, and selling them in Chile at from 50 to 40 pats. per novillo. The increase of stock in Patagones and Rio Negro last year leaves every partido in Buenos Aires far behind.

The fine Italian steamer Italia entered the Boca to-day, and lands over 800 emigrants, this steamer always loads and unloads in the Boca, which, notwithstanding the wet weather, is more convenient than the Outer Road.

Two leagues of land in the 2nd Section Provincial, sold yesterday for 40,000 m/n; also 2½ leagues of good land at Trenquelauquen, for 220,000 m/c per league, F. Pascal buyer; lands that can be stocked and settled on, we note, are in very active demand.

Nearly all the Confectioners in town have been fined by Dr. Arata, Municipal Inspector of sweets, caramelos, etc. It is a wonder that half the children in town were not poisoned by the stuff they sell at some of these 'Confiterias'. The doctor's report should be read by every matron of Buenos Aires.

Great complaints are made about the delays in the Government House concerning the route of the Transandine Railway from Junin out. It seems that to escape some lagunas it is proposed to modify somewhat the route, and run the line slightly further north; the papers are for months and months before the Minister of the Interior and not yet despatched. We trust our excellent Minister Dr. Irigoyen, will see that the matter is despatched without further tramite or delay.

The evening proved wet, murky and inconvenient, regular London weather; as however nearly all brokers have carriages and tilburies, they are above weather indemencies, still affairs on 'Change this afternoon ruled very dull. Nothing hardly done in the liquidation room, buyers National Bank Shares for May at 140 and for end of month 138½. The King speculator did not appear on 'Change to-day as he is to be married to-night, and the wedding will be one of the grandest of the season.

Telegrams from Manchester are good for importers; cotton up.

Buyers of certificados offering 45, no sellers, a large business at 50 is talked of.

Owing to the kind attention of Mr Norton, we received a London Times 21st March, the freshest in the Plate.

Mr Glover, left this afternoon for Rosario, and Chevalier Oldham for Montevideo.

The payments on 'Change to-day are reported small, and the week's produce and exchange business was not over heavy.

To-morrow the renowned Iturriaga quinta at the Plaza Once will be sold by judicial auction.

Dr L. V. Lopez, the talented attorney general for the Province will we understand resign next week his post which he has filled with such distinction. We have not heard his successor's name. Mr Senator Calvo has resigned the Chairmanship of the war claims and Dr Dimet succeeds him.

We have received a sample of the new yerba, coffee export but have not yet tried it. We hope it will succeed, but very much doubt if the people in Europe ever take to mate. It is the host of all drinks; we took when in Patagones last year 120 mates in one day.

It is very remarkable how all the advices we now receive by mail from Europe speak of emigration to the Plate. Yesterday we reported the news by the mail of a strong tide of French emigration to this country. To-day we hear from authentic source that on 11th inst a large batch of farmers left Belgium for Buenos Aires, and Dr. Bertoni has arrived from Switzerland with a number of Swiss families who come out supplied with everything to start a new Swiss colony in the Misiones. We conceive that there is no better crews for this country. Mr. Lavercllo tells us that the Italian emigration to the Plate is now stronger than ever.

Another magnificent steamer has arrived in port to load frozen mutton, the Zenobia. She will proceed to Campana and take in a cargo of 15,000 frozen capones. The pioneer steamer in this trade the Meath has just taken in her cargo at the same mutton freezing establishment. She was much delayed in port owing to the scarcity of lighters and the difficulty of landing her cargo. One of the secrets of success in this business in

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Some people seem to place an inordinate value on their head-gear. The other day an Italian sailor who could not swim jumped overboard without a moment's hesitation, after his cap, and was drowned instanter. Better luck attended a man who jumped last week from a train in motion near Las Heras, to recover his hat, which had blown through the window. He got a severe "cropper," but was not much hurt, and ran back till he secured the hat. The guard stopped the train, picked him up, and handed him to the police at the next station.

We have to thank our esteemed friend Mr. Rhodes for sending us yesterday a copy of Egmont Hake's "Story of Chinese Gordon," a book of peculiar interest at the present juncture. It is written in a flowing and pleasing style, and is beautifully bound and got up. The reading matter is like a romance. On the last page the author mentions the singular fact that Gordon "is the one Christian for whom they offer yearly prayers at Mecca."

A singular catastrophe is reported from Medanito, Catamarca, a hamlet of 300 souls. A gaucho who was sleeping in the open camp near the town heard at midnight a terrible rumbling sound, and rushed into the village, to awaken the inhabitants, shouting "Medanito is lost!" The inhabitants jumped from their beds and reached a neighbouring hill just in time to see their homesteads buried under a landslip of such force that it turned the river from its course and forced the water up the mountain side.

Mr. Jose P. Guerrico has given a number of valuable paintings to the Public Library, for the future Museum of Buenos Aires. Most of them are Biblical pictures, and of great merit.

The Lord Mayor has lodged in the National Bank the money in payment for the Recova, so, we suppose, the exercescence will soon go the way of the old Arch, and the sooner the better.

Advices from Brazil report that in Rio Grande do Sul they have abolished the fire-brand for cattle, in response to the repeated complaints from European markets of the injury done to the hide by such a system of branding. It is high time that cattle breeders here should follow such a good example. The fire-brand is a relic of barbarous times, and should not be retained.

Thirty Swiss families have arrived from Europe to settle in Misiones. Dr. Beck Bernard, the Argentine Consul in Berne, sent them out. They bring with them capital, implements, seeds, etc, and all they ask for is land to settle on. These families are merely the advanced guard of a much larger number of their countrymen. There are no better settlers for this country than William Tell's countrymen.

The first centenary of our great London colleague the Times will be celebrated in 1888. Walter the First started it in 1784, having first tried the Daily Universal Register. During the war with France the Times had ships of its own to carry its correspondence.

An Electric Light Company has offered to light Mendoza with electricity at 5 per cent. less cost than the kerosene which now makes darkness visible in that charming city.

It is rather a novel idea to inaugurate a school with a big 'bails', but our Southern neigbours evidently think it the proper thing. The new school at Velasquez Station will be the scene of the festival on Sunday next. Some of the families of Dolores and adjoining districts have been invited to attend.

In a few days Mr Rialto will lay down a sample square with wood, in Calle Cuyo between Reconquista and 25 de Mayo. In order to avoid the inconvenience of having it again taken up to lay the water pipes, our good Lord Mayor has requested the President of the 'Comision de las Obras de Salubridad' to have the pipes laid forthwith, which we hope will be done.

On the 24th inst. Minister Calvo and Capdeville, Argentine representative in Colombia and Venezuela, will set out for Europe.

The screaming farce of inspecting theatres is again being played, just as it was three years ago. The artists are the 'Comision de Seguridad' of the Municipality. They are said to have found the Colon Theatre, generally, 'en buenas condiciones' (whatever this may mean) but the Opera House is declared dirty and unsafe, with no fire hose, and not a drop of water. When the Commission get through the other theatres, a long and windy report will be drawn up, and there will be no more heard of the matter—at least this is what happened on all previous occasions of such inspections.

NOTA—Inutil nos parece llamar la atencion sobre este importante remate pues de todos es demasiado conocido el valor que han tomado los terrenos y las propiedades a inmediaciones de la estacion 11 de Setiembre. El punto no puede ser mas comercial, pues hay tramways en todas direcciones. El terreno es alto y sumamente higiénico el aire. Los lotes estan al alcance de todos los bolsillos, pues la venta siendo judicial han sido tasados como para venderlos.
La propiedad cuya adquisicion recomendamos a la gente de dinero es construida a todo costo habiendo sido tasada en la mitad de lo que costo.
Titulos perfectos.
